Tyranny is an inherent element of human nature. As we overcome this in ourselves we benefit all mankind.

THE TRUSTEE'S MEETING

Tax Levy Made Based On A Total Valuation of Almost One Million Dollars

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees was held Thursday evening, and owing to the absence of Mayor Bancroft, due to severe illness, D. Webster was elected mayor pro tempore.

A letter was received from V. V. LeRoy, chief deputy for W. A. Lewis, County Auditor, giving Tropico's valuation, which was:

|---|---|
| Real Estate | $206,210 |
| Improvements | 23,965 |
| City Lots | 391,855 |
| Improvements | 267,450 |
| Net Personal Property | 50,470 |
| Money and solvent Cr. | 950 |
| Total | $940,900 |
| Soldiers' exemptions | 10,100 |
| Total assessable val. | $930,800 |

Taking this valuation as a basis, the Board of Trustees made the following levy: General fund, $1.00 per $100, which would give an income to meet general expenses of $9,308.00. Library fund, 10c on the hundred, giving an income of $930.80. Interest on bonds and sinking fund, 15c on the hundred, giving an income of $1,396.20; making a total assessment of $1.25 on the hundred.

The water question and the recommendation of the Civic Club were taken up and discussed in an informal way, and it was the opinion of the members of the Board that the proposed election should be called about September 23d, and City Attorney Baker was given permission to enter into an agreement with the attorney of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., to postpone the trying of the injunction case filed by the trust company against the city until after the 23d of September.

The following demands were presented, allowed, and the City Clerk instructed to draw warrants for same:

| F. B. McKenney & Son | 15.20 |
| S. E. Brown | 45.83 |

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fossett and two daughters, Mildred and Marjorie, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. J. W. Tupper, 420 North San Fernando road.

Mrs. T. Gordon of Lindsay, California, and Mrs. B. S. Coleman, her daughter, from Oklahoma, are visiting Mrs. D. Jenison, sister of Mrs. Gordon.

MANY HUNT FLEET DEER

Equipped with fishing rod and rifle and carrying with them all manner of good things to eat, families and parties from Tropico are going into the hills and mountains of California to pursue the bounding deer and the rainbow speckled and mountain trout.

Not only is hunting good this year, but the small mountain rivers and creeks near here seem to be well stocked with the gamey little trout, the landing of even one of which affords hours of pleasure sometimes to erstwhile Isaac Waltons. Elizabeth Lake is claiming many fishing and hunting parties; parties are going into the country above Newhall to look for deer and around the San Fernando Valley washes many jackrabbits are affording sport to those with rifles who follow the trail of jacks.

Bear Creek, the Sespe river and many other small trickles in the dry hills are being whipped with fly and line for the speckled beauties. Mobs of people have got the fever and the streams which but a few years ago were stocked with trout with eggs from the government hatcheries in Oregon, promise to be depopulated of their finny inhabitants to a great extent. Besides those who go into the hills to shoot harmless fawn and deer and angle for the agile trout, there are a number who combine the business of fishing with pleasure and go to the beach. Here they can take turns bathing in the surf and fishing from wharves and runways.

The deer season opened in this country August 15 and this accounts in one way for the large number who are leaving during the month. Hunters who have a license can now shoot deer for several months with the knowledge that they will be safe from prosecution. It is announced by the authorities that violation of the license law will be vigorously prosecuted and this is expected to deter many from attempting to elude the small fee.

News has reached Tropico of a quartet of hunters in the neighborhood of Mt. Gleason who had so many interesting experiences that they amused the mountain lions and other animals. The members of the party are Louis Bittle, who has just come in, and Maurice Burke, Charlie Koerner and Fred Gates, and from all accounts, shooting deer has been but an avocation. Deer is very plentiful up in that country according to the report brought back but the wily hunters are

Tropico Street Fair a Big Success

A Big Attendance. Plenty Of Good Amusement Enjoyed By All. Many Want To Make The Affair A Permanent Feature. Out of Town Visitors Attend

That the Ladies of the Thursday Afternoon Club Were More Than Successful In Their First Attempt to Give Tropico And the Neighboring Towns a Day and Evening of Fun and Frolic Is Admitted By All. Everyone Joined In and Helped To Make the Event a Memorable One

Hurrah for the ladies, and hurrah for Tropico!

Again it was demonstrated Saturday and Saturday evening that Tropico is one of the best places on earth to live, and that no community can muster as big a percentage of good, whole hearted, hospitable, jovial class of citizens as can Tropico and surrounding communities.

About two weeks ago the ladies of the Thursday Afternoon Club decided to give a street fair, to be managed and conducted by the ladies of the club, and while none of them could qualify as experts in this line, yet they went to work with a vim and vigor that resulted in a most successful and joyful entertainment.

Mrs. Frank B. McKenney as chairman of the Ways and Means committee, was made general manager, so to speak, and on her shoulders fell the burden of looking after the one-thousand-and-one matters demanding attention every hour.

Mrs. Wayland Brown was chairman of the Midway, and the wild man, and the snake charmer, and Ramona, the fattest native American, and the "big show" were all good, mirth provoking, clean and wholesome.

Mrs. J. H. Webster was charged with the responsibility of seeing that the crowds were properly fed, and that she did her work most satisfactorily can be verified by the hundreds who took advantage of the cafeteria set up and run during the day.

Where all the good things to eat came from, and how it was possible to serve the meal they served for the price charged, is a mystery to the uninitiated. There were roasts, and broths, succulent vegetables, appetizing entrees; there were puddings, and pies, lucious melons; cakes in endless variety; fragrant coffee and nerve soothing teas; ice cream and deserts, and all served by dainty misses and stately matrons at about one-third the price usually charged.

During the noon hour a number took advantage of the cafeteria, and so well pleased were they, that the fame of this new eating house was rapidly heralded abroad, and the attendance for the evening meal taxed the place beyond its capacity. People came from Burbank, from Glendale, from Eagle Rock, and from Los Angeles to get some of the good things to eat, and to enjoy the bright, cheerful occasion.

To mention all the ladies who contributed to the success of this is not practical. Many of Tropico's most famous cooks, best mothers, and noblest women donned a cap and apron and worked with all their might and main to give their guests full value for their money, and most certainly did they succeed in doing so.

The people of Tropico, like they always do, responded willingly and turned out in goodly numbers to take in the Street Fair. During the day and evening the expression was frequently heard, "Where did all the people come from?" and each and everyone enjoyed themselves, and were glad that they came.

The people of Tropico did everything possible not only to assist the ladies of the club, but to make all the visitors have a good time. McKenney & Son practically turned over their hardware store to the use of the ladies and no matter what was wanted, if it was in stock, the ladies got it cheerfully and without cost.

J. Herbert Smith, although Saturday is one of the biggest days with the Mercantile, practically gave up the day to assisting the ladies, and during the evening made a most wonderful spieler for the "big show."

Charley Phillips got up from a sick bed to come up and spiel for Ramona, the fattest living native American, and Charley Findley, notwithstanding that he had been working a double shift at the tile factory and is just as busy as a man can be, quit his business and gave hours finding a costume and fixing up to take the part of Ramona. It was worth anyone's five cents to see how well he did the job.

Ed Shipman, as a "ball thrower" and a Japanese plate performer, was a whole show in himself, and there are none of us but what have paid 25c or more to see a man not one-half as good.

The big tent owned by Harry Schaffer, Chas. Lake, Billy Gould and Ed Shipman, was not only donated to the ladies, but these men worked like trojans in putting up the tent and arranging the scenery, and doing everything possible to assist the ladies.

Wayland Chapman, as a wild man, entered heartily in the spirit of the part, and when he charged at you the full length of his chain, made little thrills run up and down your spinal column, even if you did know that you had paid him many 25-cent pieces for meat he should have sold you for 10 and 15 cents.

Earl Clemens, as a big negro policeman, dressed in a gaudy red uniform, was attractive, if not beautiful, and the only complaint anyone could make to him was that he stayed so close to Mrs. Clemens that no one had an opportunity of flirting with the pretty matrons who presided over the grab bag booth—the booth that John Logan tried to buy out.

John Gordon, of Los Angeles, made a good snake charmer, and Dr. Conrad in his silk tile, beads and brilliants, made an ideal manager for the snake show. Fred Bittle, Jas. Cawthorn and Colonel Thornton proved that they could make a living with any carnival show taking the part of spielers. Frank Peters, as a green Dutchman, was a success, and furnished much amusement, especially to the younger crowd. Hal Davenport as a blind cripple, was a surprise to all, and few, even of most intimate friends, could recognize him in his disguise. A. J. Van Wie was the "slick one" for the show, and made you think of the old shell game and the three-card trick. Mrs. Harry Bowman, as a mind reader, kept her audience guessing, even if Robert Oliver had to pull the tent fly open to assist Mrs. Bowman in reading the minds of her victims.

Mrs. Mary W. Edwards, as chairman of the Cat Show, had a number of thoroughbred cats and furnished cat lovers an opportunity of seeing some of the best felines that can be furnished by Tropico and vicinity.

Since the fair a number of expressions have been made to the effect that it is believed that the street fair should be made a permanent event, and that it would be not only the means of furnishing a happy and amusing day, but add largely to advertising Tropico.

"The Sentinel" unearthed a talented school girl artist and musician and at the same time secured another worker in the "Popularity Contest" Saturday, when Miss Clara Jenkins announced that she is going out with the particular purpose of winning the scholarship in the Egan Dramatic School.

Although she is only 16 years old, the modest little high school Sophomore is an accomplished Her work of hand painting china is of the highest character, although she has had no especial opportunities to develop her talent and picked up what she knows about the work in an art store at Decatur, Illinois. She came here three months ago with her parents who have taken up residence at 730 Glendale avenue in Glendale and she expects to enter Glendale high school at the beginning of the September term.

Miss Jenkins does not seem to value her talent as a musician and as a painter very highly, but wishes to branch out into dramatics and it is for this reason that she will make an especial effort to win the second prize. She has never had any experience at subscription getting work and is making her debut on "The Sentinel" this week. If she wins the second prize and gets to attend the dramatic school, Miss Jenkins wants to develop into a great actress.

When asked whether she planned to carry her music still farther and go on the stage as a violinist Miss Jenkins said that she might take lessons in painting after a time. Just at present she is thinking of nothing else but the contest and the dramatic scholarship and art is pushed into the background.

Girls entered in the Sentinel's Popularity Contest have wakened to the fact that the fight for first place is well under way and so vigorously have they gone into the spirit of the thing that at the time of going to press, 32,387 votes had been cast and two new contestants entered in the lists. The girls are Miss Clara Jenkins and Miss Vera Grant, both of Glendale, and this gives Glendale three representatives in the big free for all.

ELKS WILL BUILD CLUB

Incorporate At Last Meeting For $75,000. Concrete Building To Cost $80,000

For the purpose of erecting an $80,000 clubhouse to be the finest in the San Fernando valley, Glendale Elks have incorporated for $75,000 and are now looking about for a site for the proposed structure. The new clubhouse is to be three stories high, probably 50x100 feet in size and will be built of brick or concrete. It will cost completed near $80,000 and will be finished some time early next year.

There is much discussion of plans among the Elks although nothing as to just what the structure will be like has been formulated. The site most favored is that on Brand and Sixth streets, where five lots can be secured if they are wanted. Whether all these lots will be bought has not been determined but there is a general sentiment in favor of the purchase of considerable ground so that tennis courts, a big lawn and a garage can be arranged for. The idea in the construction of such a structure is to make it as homey a place as possible.

In all likelihood the Elks building will be of reinforced concrete, will be three stories high and the lower floors will probably be rented for store purposes. In that case the lodge will take what room it requires for auditorium, pool and billiard rooms, private chambers, offices, reading rooms, toilets, etc., and will rent the remainder for office purposes if there is any remainder. The income from such renting will help pay the interest on the bonds and eventually take them up. These bonds, of course, will be purchased largely by Elks.

There are now 350 Elks in Glendale and there are forty on the waiting list. The present quarters are totally inadequate to accommodate the large lodge and are far from satisfactory. Some time ago agitation for the erection of an Elks building was started and now it is assured. Elks throughout the San Fernando valley are enthusiastic over the project and promise to support it to the fullest extent.

Mrs. S. A. Ayres, Mrs. Charles E. Mosher and children, Mrs. Edgar S. Ayres and Stuart Ayres, accompanied by Miss Alice Dewey of Pasadena and Miss Johnson Westminster, enjoyed a pleasant sojourn at Huntington Beach this week.

INCH OF AQUEDUCT WATER TO COST $87.60 A YEAR.

Los Angeles is planning to sell aqueduct water to small cities in the San Fernando valley at the rate of one cent per inch per hour, continuous flow, making a total of $87.60 for one inch of water a year. It is estimated that one inch of water will supply 7½ acres, which will make the cost $11.68 per acre a year.

This matter is now being taken up by the city of Van Nuys as the work on the big $23,000,000 project nears a close. It is proposed by Van Nuys that the Los Angeles offer be accepted and that the aqueduct water be bought.

Four trolley trunk lines will serve the gates of the San Diego exposition, with loops and every facility for quick handling of large crowds. The longest haul will be less than 6000 feet. Walking time from the center of San Diego to the center of the exposition grounds is less than ten minutes.

Past Grand Chancellor James H. Hort of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, and Past Chancellor J. S. McQuislon of Rupert, Iowa, were present at the regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias Monday night.

The City of Los Angeles is doing street work on Park avenue west from the tracks to the river and will build a bridge across the river, thus shortening the distance to Griffith Park considerably.

Four prizes were taken at the Venice Dog Show held August 14-16 by pups from Replo Vixen, a slut owned by I. H. Oliver of Tropico. The pups from this blooded slut took two firsts in the puppy class, first in the novice class and third in the class for open bitches. All the prize winners are owned by Edgar O. Fawcett of Alhambra who bought the puppies shortly before Mr. Oliver secured Replo Viven.

NETS $50,000 MONTH

Indedendent Sewer Pipe Co. Does $600,000 A Year Business

Terra cotta, enamel brick and sewer pipe is being turned out at the Independent Sewer Pipe company plant in this city at the rate of $50,000 a month, according to Secretary Murphy. There are now employed in the plant 175 men and the factory is running at full capacity.

The biggest terra cotta and enamel brick contract that has been let in Los Angeles in recent years was made a short time ago when the Independent people secured the Merchants Fireproof Building Company contract for $65,000 to furnish material for a structure at Sixth and Spring in the city. This contract alone will keep the plant operating with its full quota of men for more than a month, during which time some of the finest terra cotta specimens will be made. The Spring street structure is to be decorated on the exterior almost exclusively in terra cotta with a front of enamel brick.

Among other contracts which are now under way is the Mosbacher building at 946 South Broadway. The contract for this seven-story building amounted to $4,000. The structure is being erected for J. B. McNeal. The Independent people have the Farmers and Merchants Bank contract at Burbank for $3,000, a structure in Van Nuys known as the Juniper building, which is an $8,000 job, and many other small jobs. The plant was taken over by

EXPECTS CURRENCY TO PASS.

Special to Sentinel:

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—The Senate has been trying to balk at the idea of passing a currency measure at this session, but President Wilson has shown them how earnestly the public and business world is demanding reform at once, so it is quite certain to pass at this session. The great "Wall Street" banks which have been controling the finances of the country since the war are dying hard, and they do not like to see financial supremacy pass out of their hands as it will when the new currency bill becomes a law. The new law not only spells "doom" for Wall Street control of our finances but it insures an additional blessing of the greatest magnitude for the American people, in that panics will be impossible in the future and there will be no "shortage of money" at crop moving time, or in any era of unusual business activity, as the currency will automatically expand in accordance with the demands of any and all sound business.

J. W. Usilton has purchased a five passenger automobile for his wife. Of course, J.-W. wouldn't think of riding in it himself.

A concession that will represent the period in California history between 1800 and 1850 will cover two acres at the San Diego exposition.

From January 1 to August 1, 1913, there have been reported a total of 429 fires from the nineteen national forests of this state, the total area burned over being 13,490 acres, and the total damage $1724.17; which gives an average of only 31.4 acres per fire, and the encouragingly low figure of $4.01 damage per fire. Lightning causes more than half of these fires and careless campers are to blame for a number. A very small proportion are incendiary.

NAUSEATING AND DISGUSTING.

The yellow dailies for the last week have been rioting in a sensational and salacious orgy.

In an effort to protect innocent girls and to benefit morals there is a law of the land commonly known as the "White Slave Act." The object of this act is good. In order to make the law effective it was purposely made broad and sweeping.

Up at Sacramento two weak men, depraved and licentious, consort with two girls of doubtful character. They go to Reno, Nevada, in order that they may be more free in their liason, and are caught by federal authorities in direct violation of the laws of the land and the laws of common decency.

Cheap politicians seeking to vent their petty spite and pandering to a maudlin sentiment with the aid of a venal press, forces this case into national prominence, and during the past week the reading public has been nauseated with all the horrid details of this disgusting episode. The acts, and looks, and habits, and dress, and characteristics of these common mediocre, unworthy, and indecent debauchees, have been played up in a most graphic style by the so-called big dailies. When will the press of the country learn that the class of people who enjoy reading such stuff is in an ever decreasing minority.

Isn't it about time for us to waken to the fact that unregulated and unrestricted competion is fast dying, and that it is best it should pass away, with all its frightful wastes, its bitter injustices, its tendency to develop man's selfishness at the expense of his social nature? Competition is dying, but only through some form of cooperation can the state secure the advantages of the savings of the new system, which now go almost wholly to the great trusts.

Should we not, then, turn our attention immediately to the work at hand, that of so regulating all business, small as well as great, that there shall be in it least waste, least injustice, the greatest possible service to the public need?

You can't vote unless you have registered at least 30 days before the date of an election. There is going to be some important elections held in the near future and unless you're registered yull will have no more say as to what is done than Mrs Jones' hous poodle had to say at the dog convention. Better register the first thing you do in the morning.

"LET THERE BE PEACE."

If all the nations of the world could be induced to disarm at once and appoint a great tribunal in the halls of which international quarrels could be settled and bloody, death-dealing wars averted, then one of the greatest problems now troubling mankind would be solved.

To the man or set of men who can bring about such a thing every nation, creed, color and individual in all the wide world will owe a debt of gratitude and his name will go down into history along with those of great generals, statesmen and emperors. Instead of the black falcon of war, its wings bathed in the red life of humanity, hovering over him and protecting his memory as it protects the memory of Napolean, Alexander the Great, etcetera, there will be the beautiful, white dove of peace. No widow or bereaved orphan could point to his tomb and say, "He built that marble palace on the bones of my loved ones." His would be everlasting fame, not bought with the expenditure, but with the salvage of millions of lives.

Is the world any nearer peace today than it was yesterday. Peace conferences have been held, republics have competed with monarchies for representation and they have broken up one after another because no agreement as to division of power could be reached. Civilized America with her millions of intelligent citizens does not want a population basis in competition with the hundreds of millions of China's uneducated. Neither does she want to be outweighed by monarchies and foreign powers. Thousands of other objections are made, each little state in the conference having some point of pique.

And in answer to the question, "Is the world any nearer to peace?" we have the roar of artillery of four nations to answer us. It is an interesting thing to note that two of these wars are in the Americas, territory "protected" by the Monroe doctrine.

In Mexico and Venezuela in the Americas, in the Balkans in Europe and in China in Asia there is strife. Four nations are actually at war, killing each other's citizens, pillaging towns and cities and dethroning rulers in the twentieth century. Yet we have had two thousand years of so-called Christianization. Is it not barely possible that world has had a wrong view of Christianity—and how to live it?

Before long there must come a Napoleon of Peace who can write his name on history's page alongside the Napolean of War.

SOCIETY FOLKS RETURN

Society folk in the San Fernando valley around Tropico and Glendale are beginning to return home from the beaches and mountain resorts and there is a promise of livelier things in the social world soon. Just at present there are a number of girls, graduates of high schools and academies, who are planning to attend universities and colleges. Great preparations are being made for this debut into a new phase of society, many catalogues are being looked over and colleges discarded and discussed and there will be a bevy of pretty girls leave from this section to become Freshies in institutions of higher education. There is much talk of sororities, of the system of "rushing" by means of which the various Greek organizations secure their best members, of the social life at universities and of course the girls talk, and talk and plan about those dresses that must be done by September and the opening exercises. As a result of this condition there are many young people's parties being given, friends are being honored by receptions, high school classes are planning to properly bid farewell to its graduates who are moving up the ladder and the elder folks can not find much time to entertain. Many of the societies and clubs have postponed meetings until late in September and there are few society functions except an occasional bridge whist party or small social gathering.

Myrtle and Emma Pulliam entertained last Thursday a week, at their home at 148 South Kenwood street in Glendale in honor of Miss Anna Woodberry who is going to the University of California at Berkeley soon. There were about twenty young people present, the greater number of them being school mates of Miss Woodberry, and the soon-to-be-college woman was feted to her heart's delight by her friends. Refreshments were served, games were played and music was furnished by a number of girls. Those present were the Misses George Duffy, Alice Frank, Annie McIntyre, Katherine Lewis, Alta Browning, Loraine Mitchell, Barber Mitchell and Rifa Kennedy and Messrs. Harry Frank, John Legg and Fred Legg of Los Angeles, Dwight Stevenson, Arthur Fancher of Los Angeles, George Mitchell, Rex Chubbuch, Hawthorne and Charley Holland.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS WILL PICNIC ON LABOR DAY.

Every preparation is being made for a rousing time September 1, Labor Day, when Visor Lodge No. 293, Knights of Pythias, holds its annual picnic and outing at Griffith Park. Wagons will begin making trips at 9 o'clock carrying visitors to the park, and it is expected that fully 200 will pack up their baskets and join the gay throng.

With a band blazing away, with children romping about on the grass and with tables piled with good things to eat, the Knights and their friends expect to spend that Monday as if it were made expressly for their vacation. There will be tugs-of-war, a baseball contest, a peanut race for women which is expected to be a side-splitting affair, an egg race for men, a girls' three-legged race, fat man's race, sack race for boys and potato races for both men and women; and in all of these prizes will be warded. The list has not yet been made up but the awards will all be worth while.

Coffee and lemonade will be furnished by the lodge, otherwise the picnic will be an old-fashioned basket affair in which everyone takes their best cake, chicken, pies, fruits, preserves, salads and other forms of eats and spreads it on a common table so that everyone may help himself.

Following the picnic in the evening there will be dancing in the Knights' Hall.

Canadian consumers are protesting against the present tariff on melons from the United States into that country. At the present time each melon, both watermelon and cantaloupe, pays a tariff of 3 cents each, regardless of size and condition. The freight charges on melons from California points is $11.25 per 100 pounds, and refrigerator charges are $112.50 a car. Cantaloupes are retailing in Canada markets at from 20c to 25c each, and watermelons are sold by the slice, an inch thick, at 5c each.

the present owners only last January and since that time has gradually grown into a big business.

Mr. Murphy says:

"Business was never better. The fact that we are running at full tilt indicates to me that there is no reason to fear for the future in the construction line. Later in the season we expect to be flooded with orders which we can not fill. We are having great difficulty even now in keeping up."

W. J. Button of 127 North Brand has announced plans for an eight-room, shingle exterior residence of two stories and a basement which he will build at First and Glendale streets in Glendale. The home will have a concrete foundation and will be strictly modern.

CONTEST GIVES CHANCE

The race for first place just at present seems to lie between Mrs. Fred Spears and Miss Martha Cramer, both local women, and the honors are Mrs. Spears thus far. She leads Miss Cramer by nearly 6,000 votes, with a total of 13,945. Miss Cramer has 7770, leading her nearest opponent by 2000 votes.

Mrs. W. W. West is holding third place in the race now although it has been hinted that some of the low ones will prove dark horses and that at least one of the Glendale girls will come in at the finish nosing for the ribbon ahead of all the rest.

Mrs. W. W. West writes of the contest:

"Although I entered the contest two weeks after it opened, I am meeting with gratifying success and have hopes of winning one of the prizes. Not the least enjoyable part of the race is the meeting with the different people of Tropico. Everywhere I find smiling faces and eager interest in the contest.

"Don't forget to trade with the merchants who give the coupons and don't forget to save the coupons for me when you get them and I will meet you with a smile as I was met when I was out canvassing.

"Of course I know we can't all win the piano but I am sure it would fit very nicely in the music room of my new home on Gardena avenue."

SOUTHERN COUNTIES REVOLT AT FAIR ARRANGEMENT

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 21.—"Not a cent for the San Francisco fair if the counties of the state are required to pay for space and cannot handle their own exhibits and buildings" was the ultimatum delivered by the exposition commission and county supervisors of the seven southern counties of California at their meeting Thursday, August 14.

The commissioners hold that they cannot contribute further to the San Francisco fair and that they should be provided with a building, at least, free of charge, from the $5,000,000 fund already given to the San Francisco fair by every county in the state.

Grading for the California state building at the San Diego Exposition practically is finished. The agricultural building is almost completely framed up. This building is one of the largest at the San Diego Exposition, containing as much floor space as three buildings previously erected. State societies of San Diego are beginning a "home letter" campaign directed to their respective states to inform people back home of the opportunity for them at the exposition. The next building that will be started will be the liberal arts building.

GLENDALE PLANS STREET SHOW FOR OCTOBER.

Inspired by the success of the Tropico Street Fair, the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at its next meeting, Friday, will take up the question of holding a big "Made in Glendale" show in that city some time during the month of October. All the cities of the San Fernando valley will be invited to send their visitors to this show which Glendale plans to make one of the biggest ever held in this section.

While no definite plans have been formulated as yet, W. B. Kirk of the Chamber, declares that there is every reason to believe a "Made in Glendale" exhibition would prove successful and would attract large crowds. Besides the regular fair accessories such as side shows, balloon ascensions, foot races and a general crowding of the city with people bent on having a good time, there will be a serious side to the proposed Glendale enterprise. The object will be to show the people of Glendale what is being manufactured in their home city and the immediate vicinity and to encourage them to use domestic products in preference to foreign.

There will be a number of prominent speakers it is thought and perhaps a few hours will be set aside for a general gathering where some of Glendale's boosters can get on the soap-box and instill home loyalty by means of oratory.

NESOM SELLS STORE TO MUNSON BROTHERS

J. J. Nesom, who for five years has owned and operated Nesom's Pharmacy at the corner of Brand and Broadway in Glendale, has retired, selling his property to C. H. and R. H. Hunson of Boone, Ia. Mr. Nesom sold his business in order that he might retire and take a rest.

The Munsons chose Glendale as a field of operation after traveling along the entire breadth of the Pacific coast, when they deago. C. H. Munson was out here three years ago traveling through Southern California and at that time he was impressed with the great possibilities of development in the San Fernando valley.

"I have traveled all through this country," he said the other day, "and have found no place that looks as good as this portion of the SanFernando valley. This country in here has great possibilities. We have come to stay." They would say nothing concerning the details of the transaction, although they have already taken possession of the business and are getting acquainted with the trade.

Despite the damning evidence that has been brought against Governor Sulzer and which would seem to prove beyond a doubt that he has betrayed a trust in spending money raised for campaign purposes to pull himself out of a financial hole, there are still many who refuse to believe that the New York executive is guilty. The fight that Tammany hall has made from the start to discredit this governor has more to do with the favorable sentiment than anything else. Governor Sulzer went into office and began to clean things. He proved to be a man of strength and personality and the Tammany hall organization never tottered so near its fall as it did under the attacks of Sulzer. Now it looks like underhand work so cleverly executed that the claw-like fingers of the character assassins do not leave an imprint on the throat of their victim.

"Lawyers should not be permitted to demur in small cases in a Justice Court," says Judge Melrose, who has been bothered greatly by the extension of unimportant civil cases. The law provides that a contestant in a justice court must be given five days to demur to an amended complaint and many lawyers are continually taking advantage of this to repeatedly delay the trial of cases. Judge Melrose takes the stand that demurrers should be allowed in the higher courts, but that a restriction should be placed on their use in the lower judicial division.

The cause of the outburst on the part of the judge was the case of John Crane vs. P. A. Fellows, a civil matter involving a few dollars, but which must now be extended for five days in order to allow the defendant to demur to an amended complaint.

"Just to show of how little merit these demurrers are," said the judge, "I have figured that in eight years I have granted but three demurrers while thousands have been denied. There is a fine in some of the higher courts which can be administered to contestants who file demurrers for the sole purpose of delaying trial and with no real merit, but we have no such protection. Such a law should be passed."

LIBRARY CIRCULATION INCREASES 900 BOOKS

Circulation of books in the Tropico public library has increased from 500 for the first month this institution was owned by the city to nearly 1,400 a month at the present time, according to a statement of the librarian made this week. The library was taken over by Tropico last September after it had been operated by the Ladies' Club for about five years and immediately the institution began to build up until now it has as large a patronage as any library of its size in the state.

Fiction is the most popular class of reading at this time of year and the number of books let to juveniles exceeds the adult class by nearly 300 a month. Of the 1,330 books circulated last month but 56 were non-fiction, indicating that but few people are doing heavy reading during the summer. In the winter the non-fiction circulation is greatly increased.

Jack London is the most popular author for men and boys and Myrtle Reed holds the premium with women. There are no other authors equal to these two in popularity, although there is a constant demand for modern fiction which the library tries constantly to fill.

The librarian has compiled a list of books which he will recommend that the trustees order at their next meeting. They are "The Inside of the Cup" by Winston Churchill; "Laddie" by James Stratton Porter; "Mrs. Red Pepper Burns" and "The Country Doctor" by Grace Richmond, and "The Story of the Files," a review of California writers and literature in eight volumes. This last is considered a very estimable work, dealing with 218 California writers and illustrated with the portraits of 115 of them. This state has a large number of literateurs whose fame is not only national but worldwide, and no volumes have ever been published which deal with them in a more intelligent manner.

LOUALLA II WINS AGAIN.

Loualla II, the red cocker spaniel owned by W. C. Anderson, took another blue ribbon for being the best American-bred cocker shown at the Bay Side Kennel Club's show given at Venice.

Mrs. G. F. Gaither of Needles, Cal., has been visiting her father, Mr. J. F. Gaither of Glendale avenue, for a few days. Mrs. Gaither says Tropicans do not half appreciate the delightful weather we are enjoying. She has to come here to cool off.

Well-known business men of the county have organized a subdivision concern known as the Associated Building Company, and the first move of the new company has been the purchase of a forty-five-acre tract at San Fernando road and Oxford street, well known as the Divine ranch. It is the plan to improve the plat with houses ranging in cost from $2,000 upward. John Topham, president of the company, is a well-known real estate man of Los Angeles, and was formerly councilman and police commissioner. The vice-president, T. P. Veselich, is treasurer of the Pacific Homebuilders, and other officers are successful business men of Los Angeles.

HEALTH OFFICER'S TALKS NO. 6.

Patience is an admirable quality. Please exercise it when the health officer "butts in" and suavely requests you to cut down your noxious weeds, pick up promiscuous papers, stop throwing rubbish into the streets and alleys, remove piles of fertilizer or tin cans, clean out chicken pens or rabbit burrows, build cesspools, tear down open closets, or do any other thing he thinks should be done to keep Tropico what it is—the cleanest little city in Southern California.

Did it ever occur to you that the position of the health officer was a "private snap?" We hardly think so, but if such a mistaken idea has possessed you, by all means "forget it." To hunt up trouble and bad odors, regulate causes of neighborly scraps without "getting his"; request people to do things which sometimes makes it hard and inconvenient for them, can hardly impress anybody as pleasant recreation. To be told he is "perfectly hideous," asked "why don't you make Mrs. Next-Door clean up her filthy yard," informed "there are lots of things in Tropico needing your attention more than my barn," etc., hardly impress the H. O. as alluring substitutes for a baseball game or pink tea.

The chief pleasures, the only ones, which come to the health officer are striving to do his work to the satisfaction of the authorities, the people at large and himself, of course, that Tropico may be what it should be from a sanitary standpoint, and the fact that nearly everybody is courteous and patient.

The health officer's thanks certainly are due the residents of Tropico for their almost invariably prompt compliance with his requests—orders have been very few. You can help him still more by planning to make his visits to your premises unnecessary.

WM. C. MABRY, Health Officer.
Tropico, Aug. 20, 1913.

Boys between the ages of 17 and 21 years who are interested in poultry are beginning to enter the chicken judging contest, to be held at the State Fair on Monday, September 15th. This contest offers $50 in prizes, to be divided as follows: First prize, $25 scholarship at the University Farm Short Course at Davis; second, $15 to be used for purchasing breeding stock; third, $10 for purchasing eggs for hatching. Each boy must judge eight birds, four males of a solid colored variety and four females of a parti-colored variety, sixty points being credited for correctness in placing the birds and forty points for the reasons substantiating the placing.

OLDEST IOWAN TO ATTEND PICNIC.

Samuel Ayres, who claims to be the oldest pioneer from Iowa in this section of the country and who built the second house in Tropico on the site of the Myers property on Central avenue, is one of the figures who will attend the big meeting of the Iowa State Society of California, which is to be held soon. Thirty years ago Mr. Ayres came to Tropico and he has been a resident of this city ever since. At that time there was no city on the present site of Tropico, and Los Angeles was hardly past the village stage.

Mr. Ayres was here when the Iowa society was organized near Pasadena about twenty years ago with less than 500 members and has watched it grow until now there are more than 5,000. He was 78 years old last March. He has the distinction of having pioneered into California with an ox team and was a member of the Second Iowa volunteers during the Civil War.

BOY SCOUTS TO TAKE NIGHT HIKES

Instead of establishing a regular summer camp this year the Tropico division of the Boy Scouts will indulge in a number of over-night hikes, the first one to be held this week, according to J. G. Goodsell, who is Scout Master for this city.

That the Boy Scout movement in Tropico is progressing well and that the organization of twelve live young Americans, whose first motto is to help others, will prove of assistance in many instances, was the opinion expressed by the Scout Master the other day. In hunting for lost children, helping in case of fire or accident, going to the relief of sick people, carrying the news of disaster and in a score of other ways the Boy Scouts are making themselves useful throughout the United States and the local camp is in the forefront.

There are now several first-class scouts in Tropico and the boys are being educated in military discipline, in taking care of themselves at every crisis, of how to build a fire safely and cook food, how to pack their baggage for light carriage, how to make their beds on the ground and above all are they being taught absolute self reliance. Before entering the Boy Scouts a boy must take the "tenderfoot" examination on the composition and history of the American flag, on the scout oath and law and must be able to tie at least four knots. For second-class scout the entrant must be able to cook bacon and eggs, perform first aid to the injured work and do wig wagging. A still sterner examination along the same lines are applied to applicants for first-class scout positions.

The Boy Scouts were organized here about a year ago.

In a combined driving and gasoline economy test held recently by the Springfield Automobile Club at Springfield, Mass., a water cooled six cylinder Knox car took second place with a record of 106 miles to a gallon of gasoline per thousand miles of car weight. The method of comparison was determined by the gasoline consumption per thousand pounds of car weight, including passengers, thus giving the members of the club an accurate means of judging the relative merits of their cars as regards economical running irrespective of size. This result has gone a long way in breaking down the belief that the six cylinder car is not as efficient as the four cylinder type. Eight Knox cars in the run averaged over 16 miles to the gallon or 71 miles to a gallon per thousand pounds of car. A Franklin took first place in the contest.

MANY HUNT FLEET DEER

having all sorts of trouble. Koerner bought Bittle's shirt before he came in as he had worn his own off his back. Burke wore one shoe out and tried to buy one of Bittle's also, but without success, and Gates has suffered the tragedy of breaking his pipe. Koerner has such long whiskers that he got tangled in the buckthorn and the crowd had to cut him out.

Dave Lovell was the lucky member of the hunting party of seven men who went up into Tuna Canyon looking for deer, securing a four-point buck which dressed about 110 pounds, and the head of which he is having mounted to hang in his shop. The party returned Sunday evening, after spending three days searching the hills for deer. C. S. Hunter also got a spike buck Friday morning. Those in the party were C. S. Jennings, W. V. Frank, S. Ross, Dave Lovell, C. O. Hapgood, Jay Sedger and C. S. Hunter.

W. J. Hibbert of 1502 Brand avenue has returned from Bear Valley, and reports that fishing in that section is of the highest character. He brought back forty good-sized trout with him, and declared that he had a lively time.

Although there is no apparent need for it, hunters who go out from the cities of Tropico and Glendale after deer are giving great preference to high-power rifles. Calibers such as 30-30 and 32-40 are being given preference over the lighter 25-20 which is so popular in the elk-infested regions of Idaho, although the less expensive bullet from the 25-20 rifle is able to do good execution and is heavy enough for ordinary deer.

Here they are—used and new.

A good piano for $125. Pick out in the list the ones you are interested in and call or phone for prices and terms.

Every piano is plainly tagged. Every piano listed is for sale.

THE WEBER? You can't tell it from new. It is only one year old, but we have reduced the price $150. It is style 11 mahogany.

IS IT THE AUTOPIANO? Take it home for $325, with 50 rolls of music. Special mission design case, in A1 condition. Pay $10 or $12 per month if you like; $325, you know, is only the price of an ordinary piano. You can exchange it later at full value if you wish, but enjoy its music NOW.

That SCHOMAKER is worth $300, but $215 takes it this week. It has fine tone and fine walnut case, gold strings and is strictly a high-grade instrument.

THAT ANGELUS—too much can't be said for it. Was $800. Now $650. Only slightly used—the peer of the whole player family. A liberal supply of music furnished without extra charge.

Yes, $150 will buy any one of three or four in this list.

These pianos would bring $50 to $125 more if we could wait 60 days. Our floors are crowded to their capacity, however, and we can't. That's all.

"Seven shillings."

"Seventeen shillings!" she exclaimed. "I'll give you thirteen."

"Oh, seven shillings!" rejoined the lady, sharply. "Well, I'll give you five."
